

Comprehensive Advance Care Planning

Aledade

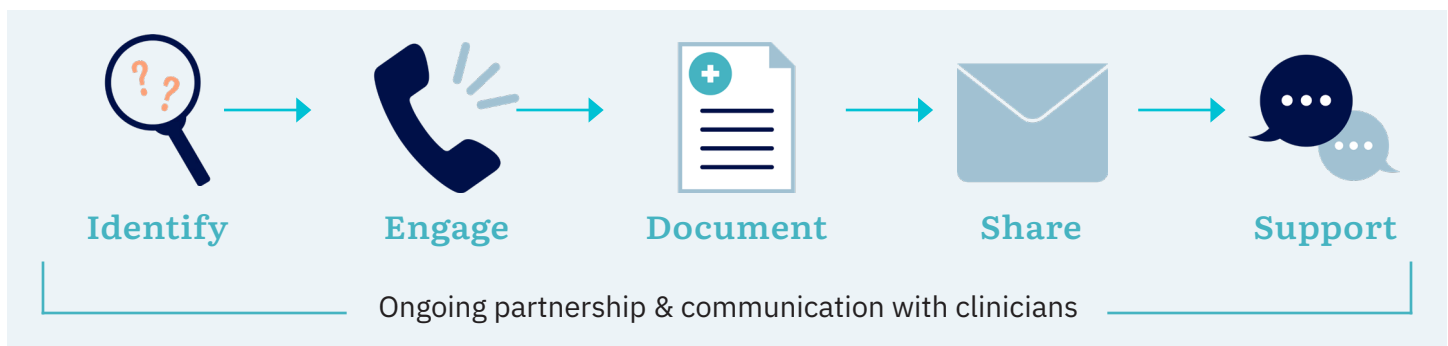

Reduce Unnecessary Cost | Improve Outcomes | Boost Patient, Physician Satisfaction

Engaging in advance care planning conversations is crucial for providing patients facing serious illness with optimal care, but it can be complex and time-consuming for you and your care team. That's where Comprehensive Advance Care Planning (CACP) comes in.

Effectively identifying high-cost, high-need Medicare patients and conducting in-depth CACP can reduce unnecessary and non-beneficial treatment, while providing goal-concordant care. Our pilot program with Iris showed a significant reduction in the cost of inpatient and Skilled Nursing Facility care, resulting in an average savings of $4.1K (MSSP) to $13.8K (MA) per enrolled patient over a 14-month period.

CACP is a valuable service that offers an additional layer of support to patients and families facing serious illness. It can be a complement to or replace in-office ACP conversations by the care team. These expert-led and personalized conversations drive the creation of advance directive documents that reflect each patient's unique goals, preferences and future care needs.

How CACP Works

Identify

Utilizing Aledade's data insights, we prioritize high-cost, high-need Medicare patients likely to face significant medical decisions in the near-term. These patients are presented to each practice through the CACP eligibility list, with multiple options for practices to make referrals.

Engage

Outreach specialists schedule appointments with our expert clinical facilitators, who provide education, establish goals and values, clarify patient preferences, involve family members, select a proxy decision maker, and draft customized advance directives.

Document

Support is provided to ensure patients understand and properly execute their documents. Finalizing documents can take 1-4 months, depending on each patient's speed and decision-making process.

Share

We distribute final copies to patients, loved ones, PCPs, hospitals and additional care teams as requested.

Support

We provide ongoing support to patients including reviewing or updating preferences, redistributing documents, running family meetings and providing education on palliative care and/or hospice.

But, don't take our word for it.

This is what patients and physicians are saying about our CACP program:

"You've really been very efficient with explaining things. I was able to tell you the things that I would desire and you would let me know what was out there for me and some of the choices that I could make. You've made it very plain, simple and clear."

- Patient in Aledade Practice Network

"Patients embrace this wholeheartedly and are thankful they have been offered this service."

- Physician in Aledade Practice Network

"It works great. We just hand them a list of patients and they take care of everything. I definitely recommend their service."

- Physician in Aledade Practice Network

It's all about the patient. CACP helps you ensure that your patient's plan for medical care is consistent with their values, goals and preferences during serious illness. You are informed every step of the way — from the moment they are enrolled to completion of documents and everything in between.
